

Now! Ease Sore Throat Instantly!

1 Crush and dissolve 3 Aspirin Tablets in half a glass of water.

2 Gargle thoroughly—keep your head back, leaving a little to trickle down your throat.

3 Repeat gargle and do not rinse mouth; allow gargle to remain on membranes of the throat for prolonged effect.

Remember: Only Medicine Helps Sore Throat

Modern medical science now throws an entirely new light on sore throat. A very simple remedy—gargle and irritate in as little as two or three minutes!

It requires medicine—like ASPIRIN®—to do these things! That is why throat specialists throughout the world are prescribing this ASPIRIN® gargle in place of old fashioned remedies.

Be careful, however, that you get ASPIRIN Tablets for this purpose.

AIMEE DENIES PROPERTY PACT WITH HUSBAND

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hitler, who arrived here yesterday from Dallas, has said she had agreed to divorce from Dallas Hitler, Jr., her baritone singing husband, if he would waive claims to their property.

"That was a condition," she said, in commenting on reports from Dallas that she would acquiesce in the action filed by Hitler in Los Angeles.

—What I did say," she explained, "was that I had agreed to leave in Fort Worth."

Earlier, in a statement my attorney presented me in the divorce proceedings, I told him, "I just told him I would leave."

There is no mention of property settlement or agreement to divorce or anything like that."

ORANGE LODGE ELECTS HEADS

LLOYDMINSTER, Nov. 23.—New officers elected to pilot the Lloydminster Orange Lodge for 1934 are Cecil Aston, worshipful master; Rev. J. E. C. H. Astley, chaplain; Rev. E. W. Hayward, chaplain; J. B. Boyd, recording secretary; D. W. A. G. Dunn, treasurer; C. H. Walker, treasurer; J. Griffith, master; C. Mitchellmore, first vice master; W. H. Cross, second vice master; G. H. Astley, tyler; W. Wallace R. Hughes, auditor; J. L. Davis, A. Cross, J. Cross, G. Dunn, W. T. Ballard, committee men.

POLICE THREAT QUIETED DOWN LONG DEBATE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 23.—Threat of police action to keep Vancouver city fathers within bounds until a new charter was made good yesterday by Mayor L. D. Taylor, during discussion of a proposed bylaw establishing minimum and maximum taxicab fares here.

Mayor Taylor took exception to lengthy statements made by Ald. J. J. Shimmin, his antagonist, in his argument. Said Mayor Taylor: "Will someone call up Mr. Ald. Shimmin and tell him a motion to prepare the bylaw was passed."

NEWFOUNDLAND LIKES COLONY PLAN

REPORT OF ROYAL COMMISSION HAS POPULAR SUPPORT

She Wants $30,000 To Heal Heart

Clear Indications That Both Houses Will Give Approval — Only One Dissenter at Trade Board

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 25—Newfoundland was moving swiftly last night towards a return to colony status, despite the opposition of the Amurine Commission's report was restrained as growing.

And Newfoundland's indications the report's chief recommendations proposing the Island Dominion status, rather than responsible government—would be approved by both upper and lower chambers.

The legislative session Monday, and the overwhelming majority of United Newfoundland party supporters under Premier F. C. Alderdice were ready to ratify the commission's findings.

To the favorable reaction yesterday the voice of the influential Newfoundland board of trade. Meeting in its regular session, the board gave most unanimous approval to the proposals set forth in the report and the bill introduced by the white paper that accompanied it.

BOARD ALMOST UNANIMOUS

There was only one dissenting voice in the board on the bill endorsing the proposals as being under present conditions in the best interest of Newfoundland.

In St. John's, Sir William Cooker, the minister of marine and fisheries, also gave his endorsement to the commission's recommendations.

In Ottawa, the former leader of the opposition and holder of several cabinet positions, Sir Alfred Mowat, said he would support the proposal. To deprive Newfoundland of responsible government, he wrote to the prime minister, "would be unjustifiable, tending to degrade the colony in the estimation of the world and repugnant to the sense of liberty."

COAST POLICE RECOVER LOOT

VANCOUVER, Nov. 25—Police last night had recovered 11 gross of jewelry worth $10,000, and a jeweler's case, part of lost value of more than $3,000 taken by three men who had been robbing a jeweler's shop here yesterday. It was estimated the loot included gold and diamonds, pearls and emeralds and approximately $100 cash.

Two boys, Gordon McLeod and Donald Campbell, had been at the jeweler's case together with their insurance policies, hidden in a woodshed not far from the scene of the robbery.

Young Campbell, however, had left the tables completely.

Although only one-half hour,

the reason the sinned a film concerning the robbery, forcing his broken engagement to Captain Frank Hunter of the Army Flying Corps.

"I met Captain Hunter in Washington," said the boy, "and he recounted, 'I used to fly over our house and drop flowers and notes to you, but I'm afraid now,' he said.

He fell in love with him. He was grand," he explained.

We became engaged,

but we have been separated so much of a risk to marry," he said.

"It has been long though,

but maybe my work in pictures will help."

LITERARY AUTOMOBILE

A friend who tried to sell Sid Grauman on giving Katharine Hepburn's new picture, "Little Women," to the public instead of the theatre, "Everyone will want to see this picture," he explained. "In taken from one of the best known novels ever written."

"It can't be very well known," Grauman replied. "I never heard of her."

DISCARDS ACCENT

Watch for a new group of actors for James Mack Brown. The former Atlanta football hero, is to star in "The Wolf," the board said.

"Unfortunately I had confidence in him," said Weinberger. "That's what got me."

Torger declared that Wolf had appeared at the studio posing as a "psychological psychologist" and writing a thesis on "the psychology of prisoners." Torger said he had refused to talk to Wolf.

NEW ANGLO-RUSS TRADE PACT DUE

LONDON, Nov. 25—The News Chronicle said today it understood conclusion was a new Anglo-Russian trade pact was imminent and that the agreement on several outstanding issues between the United Kingdom and Russia was close.

The newspaper said it had learned the Soviet had accepted the principle of arbitration at the Canadian United Kingdom Ottawa conference agreement, but that the exacting issues in question would be considered on their merits and a period of negotiations would follow before action by the British government.

It said the Soviet was willing to increase purchases of British goods.

Man Dies In Sleep With Heart Attack

DURHAM, Nov. 25—While sleeping with Harron Poulin, proprietor of Palace Cafeteria, he was visited by Harry McDonald, 25, of Vancouver, who seized with a heart attack and died.

Poulin had a head gash and before anything could be done McDonald died. He leaves a brother and sister in Vancouver.

There will be no inquest.

Promotions Reported

OTTAWA, Nov. 25—J. L. Hetherington, member of the Halifax legislature, has been promoted to the rank of captain and second Lieutenant Col. E. C. Phinney who has been promoted to the rank of colonel. O. G. Grouard, former minister of agriculture for Nova Scotia, has been appointed to the commission to fill the vacancy.

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

HOOLYWOOD, Nov. 25—Hollywood now has become a place to forget romance, as well as to forget life.

For far the majority of young ladies who invade the film capital are here to make money, not to find love, nor to have one eye on the colony's romantic possibilities. Oh, yes, we have several notable exceptions here. And with the divorce rate what it is, even the married girls can't be considered exceptions.

Young Barbara Stanwyck, however, is still the tables completely. Although only one-half hour, half the reason she signed a film contract with the studio was to forget her broken engagement to Captain Frank Hunter of the Army Flying Corps.

"I met Captain Hunter in Washington," she says, "and he recounted, 'I used to fly over our house and drop flowers and notes to you, but I'm afraid now,' he said.

He fell in love with him. He was grand," she explained.

We became engaged, but we have been separated so much of a risk to marry," she said.

"It has been long though, but maybe my work in pictures will help."

TRAFFIC ACCIDENT

Unlike the many who get maimed in the tolls of romance in Hollywood, Barbara Adams, 21, of New York, is safe.

She has come to the city to escape Cupid. She wants to take this picture," she explained.

Captain Frank Hunter of the U. S. Army Flying Corps is working on her picture.

"Third, there must be instant efficiency—which needs the militant co-operation of Canadian manufacturers."

"First, there must be recognition of the dangers of reckless driving and carelessness on our streets and highways."

Second, there must be instant efficiency of vehicles beyond the mark of safety and together and run."

TRAFFIC DATA

Who made his debut in pictures some six or seven years ago, Harry Laightning may not strike twice in the same place, but a certain bandit found it profitable to repeat a hold-up. A few weeks ago this man held up C. P. Brooks, one-man-car operator, at his car repair shop at the end of the line. The other night the same man held up Brooks a second time and made off with $27 and his money-changer.

"Records show that violation of traffic laws is the cause of 75 per cent of all accidents, and the lack of proper maintenance of the mechanical condition of automobiles is another important cause of accidents," he said. "It is the break, and lack of automobile knowledge that is the other factor, the cause of many accidents, are responsible for many accidents."

TOO LATE

These factors are recognized by the majority of Edmonton motorists, but not many only on the surface. When we consider the cost of a good automobile repair, most of us forget until we have only an instant to turn the wheel, the seriousness of the situation—then, perhaps, it is too late.

It is the constant recognition of these factors and be alert to every situation we meet while driving that will keep us safe and courteous. Our cars may be in perfect condition. The tires on which we travel may be in excellent condition, but when we turn, the brakes with which we stop may be up to standard, but the other fellow, who is particular. So we face double responsibility.

PUBLIC SAFETY SERVICE

Edmonton's Public Safety Service, Dorothy House, and even their closest friends suspect what is on their minds. But everyone who were driving up north for a game in reality, the National Hunt, Pauline, with a slight detour through Las Vegas, Nevada, where the marriage took place.

Just one of the old gods back to steer for alma mater, Herbert Hamer was a happy spectator at Stanford's graduation.

WINTER ROADS ARE MENACE TO ALL MOTORISTS

A. M. A. Interviews Police Chief on Driving Danger

Safe driving is a subject which needs the consideration of every Edmonton motorist, both individually and collectively, in this season of cold and snow, according to Captain A. G. Shute, chief of police and chief of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

"It is certain that one-half of the automobile owners in this city can not afford to run risks in driving because of traffic fatalities, or even the minor injuries resulting from the co-operation of the other half."

OTHER DRIVER

"No matter how careful one may be in his driving, how safe he may be in his driving, he may be in the way of the road or his right-of-way, the other driver who is not so careful and considerate, who is not so patient, destruction of property or fatality."

"The statement came after a demand was made by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for a review of the traffic laws in this city.

"First, there must be recognition of the dangers of reckless driving and carelessness on our streets and highways."

Second, there must be instant efficiency of vehicles beyond the mark of safety and together and run."

TRAFFIC DATA

Who made his debut in pictures some six or seven years ago, Harry Laightning may not strike twice in the same place, but a certain bandit found it profitable to repeat a hold-up. A few weeks ago this man held up C. P. Brooks, one-man-car operator, at his car repair shop at the end of the line. The other night the same man held up Brooks a second time and made off with $27 and his money-changer.

"Records show that violation of traffic laws is the cause of 75 per cent of all accidents, and the lack of proper maintenance of the mechanical condition of automobiles is another important cause of accidents," he said. "It is the break, and lack of automobile knowledge that is the other factor, the cause of many accidents, are responsible for many accidents."

TOO LATE

These factors are recognized by the majority of Edmonton motorists, but not many only on the surface. When we consider the cost of a good automobile repair, most of us forget until we have only an instant to turn the wheel, the seriousness of the situation—then, perhaps, it is too late.

It is the constant recognition of these factors and be alert to every situation we meet while driving that will keep us safe and courteous. Our cars may be in perfect condition. The tires on which we travel may be in excellent condition, but when we turn, the brakes with which we stop may be up to standard, but the other fellow, who is particular. So we face double responsibility.

PUBLIC SAFETY SERVICE

Edmonton's Public Safety Service, Dorothy House, and even their closest friends suspect what is on their minds. But everyone who were driving up north for a game in reality, the National Hunt, Pauline, with a slight detour through Las Vegas, Nevada, where the marriage took place.

SHOULD SPEND NOW

Premier Bennett says his Government may launch a public works construction program next spring "if financial and exchange conditions become more settled."

That is to say, the Government may start spending money if the depression has run its course and the time and circumstances in which a government should do nothing of the kind; and in which nearly every preceding government of Canada has done what Mr. Bennett says he may do.

Governments should do their spending when private employers, investors and buyers have little or no money to spend. When the times become "settled" governments should cut down their spending and when they have no more business needs a larger turnover, never postpone its projects until the depression is past.

GETTING TOGETHER

A social service exchange has been organized in Edmonton, whose purpose is to co-relate the operations of organizations engaged in relieving distress and preventing vice.

That is a step in the right direction. The exchange should make for efficiency, for a fair distribution of the available amount of money or supplies, and it may, through association, arouse a greater enthusiasm among the people of Edmonton to be developed if each was working alone in the dark as to what others might be doing.

Some years ago an effort was made here, as has been done in other cities, to establish a community chest, into which all contributions were to be placed, and which should be under a management representing all affiliated organizations and all sections of the city and the citizens. The movement did not succeed. Perhaps, if the exchange arrangement will well, there will be another approach to the community chest plan, which at least on paper looks like the most satisfactory way of directing voluntary relief effort.

ADVISERS WELL LOST

Two banks have resigned from the "brain trust" because President Roosevelt would not adopt the kind of a money policy they wanted.

Perhaps that will shatter public confidence in the money ideas and ideals of Mr. Roosevelt, bring the whole N.R.A. program to collapse, and start a popular demand for the bankers to be put in charge at Washington. But again, perhaps it won't.

It is even possible the retirement of these two would-be advisers will convince the public that the man in the President's pocket is strong enough to lead the country in the right direction. Like the people of Canada, the people of the United States have had long and lurid experience of banker-made money policies, culminating last spring in that country finding itself without either money or credit.

From which it seems fairly probable the U.S. public will conclude that the farther President Roosevelt keeps away from banker-advice on money matters the more likely that they will have money to do business with and the banks be able to keep their doors open.

APPLY IN THE WEST ALSO

A press despatch sent out from Montreal a week or so ago stated that the railways would offer winter trips "from points in eastern Canada to the Pacific coast" at summer rates, allowing the return journey to be made in time to get up to the end of April. Montreal being the head quarters of the railways, and the point where railway announcements are given out, it was to be taken that the despatch came with it said and what the railroads management thought.

Evidently the despatch-maker didn't know there was any Canadian territory lying between eastern Canada and the Pacific, or the railway management have thought of the matter the meantime. For these rates are being asked now from all points in the prairie provinces to the coast, with the same privileges as to accommodation and time of return.

This is of course a good business on the part of the railways, who leaves any suggestion of business judgment that the announcer credited the managements with possessing. The railways will as a result pick up a good deal of traffic from sections of the prairie provinces, and possibly from Edmonton later on. As yet excursion rates to the coast do not mean much in this part of the west, since we have been getting Vancouver weather without going there.

"THREE OUT"

The Sarraut Government was defeated in the election. That is not of particular concern to Canadians, and in the normal course of things French governments up-to often too to anyone great interest abroad.

But more than usual significance attaches to the victory of the Sarraut party, which gives even Canadian observers a much more serious interest in the situation. For this happens to be the third French government that has been defeated in parliament in six months—the same issue—money.

The issue is whether France will stay on the gold standard, and whether it will be brought to a policy of cutting and slashing such as every other country has had to employ which sought to maintain the fictitious value given to money by the slump in commodity values. Three successive governments have tried to break since last spring trying to drive the financial policy through the Chamber.

It is now toward the end of November, and the budget is no nearer passing than when it was introduced. If the Chamber stands firm, the next vote will be on the law of gold and with it will go the "gold bloc" countries whose currencies are pegged to the franc. The repudiation of the almost world-wide standard will in that event almost world-wide.

French insistence that international exchange be stabilized on gold broke up the economic conference in London. In so doing the French representatives did not speak for France, nor the parliament of France, but only for a group of gentlemen who for the time held cabinet positions who were determined to hold on to the gold standard.

He told of the Gestapo, the secret Nazi police, almost as ubiquitous as the notorious Russian OGPU and equally abominable. He tells of Nazis sent by Hitler to make political gains all over Europe and Germany, of the classless, sexual debauch and of how a labor corps was forced to act as dummies in the recent army maneuvers at Ulm in South Germany, while "the strategy was explained to parts of each division in the order of march" as Hitler explained to the German people.

Peace River Area Is Canada's Opportunity

By R. T. ELLIOT, K.C.

Offers to purchase gold at prices in excess of thirty dollars per ounce are not attracting gold to the coffers of the United States in any quantity adequate for the purposes which the United States government desires to carry out, because the desired quantity of gold is not in existence. It is not so much the question of price as lack of available gold.

About the twentieth of this month of November a conference of Republican leaders assembled at Washington, D. C., to consider some practical method of giving effect to a policy of bi-metallism—or bringing silver on to some basis of stabilized price proportionate to the gold price and thereby widening the base of precious metal values.

There is gold, and there is silver, in quantity, in the Peace River area, which will be brought into immediate working availability by extending the line of railway now completed from Edmonton to Dawson Creek on northerly and westerly past Fort St. James and Hudson Hope to Finlay Forks. Once machinery and supplies can be taken in at ordinary rail rates, there will be a new territorial development on a scale of Empire magnitude.

The total cost of the rail extension on the basis of present day construction costs should but little exceed ten million dollars; but even at double that sum, the giving of employment to several thousand men on direct work, and the impetus to manufacturing throughout all Canada in supplying the new country would reduce relief losses by at least the cost of the railway.

For several years the new country would afford the settled portions of western Canada a large market for wheat products, cattle and hog products, and dairy products.

In the area between Fort St. James and Hudson Hope, the railway will traverse districts in which the geological evidences of oil deposits are satisfactory; but the taking in of machinery on any commercial scale is impossible until the railway is built.

The big mineral-bearing area of which Fort Graham is approximately the centre is definitely known to be one of the big silver-lead areas of the continent. The gold-bearing mountains and the river placer areas of the Omineca district are tied up awaiting the bringing in of machinery in commercial quantities at ordinary rail rates.

There is everything to be done, and no possibility of loss in the immediate commencement of rail construction. The government of Canada has full power from parliament to take any measure necessary to improve Canadian conditions. Here is certain improvement for all Canadians, wage-earners and manufacturers.

Homes and employment await a multitude in the Peace River area and the government of Canada has no more imperative duty than that of providing for construction of the necessary railway extension now.

SAILOR'S PARROT EXECUTED SPOKE OF REICHSTAG FIRE

EARL QUILTS TO BECOME U. S. RANCHER

I found today . . . But that's another story. Another sad one happened.

After a few days in the hospital, the sailor ran out of money. Then he went to the Pfeiffer's—had to knock on the Pfeiffer's door to get the water to flush his toilet. He had to go to Heinrich Wirt, the German tailor, to get his clothes mended, because he was too poor to buy new ones.

"How much I offered for a first-class talking parrot?" asked the sailor. That was concluded for fifty marks.

"The sailor was a good boy, though."

"He didn't care if he got a second-hand parrot, he just wanted to have a bird."

"We have already made it plain that we wanted a first-class talking parrot," said Hans. "We stood the sailor a drink. People came and went, but the sailor stayed. The 'Gruess Gott' and Hans' when customer entered the tap-room." Gruess Gott means "God bless you." The sailor's greeting. When the customer was away Hans piped up in that clear, ringing voice, "What do you think about it? I hope to see you back again."

"The customer would laugh. Here was a sailor who could speak English and German, but he was too poor to buy sugar or whatever delicacy it is that parrots are fond of—and the customer was a good boy, though."

"The British government demands Chancellor Hitler's assurance that the sailor's execution was for peace and that she had no aggressive designs."

"We also have communicated to Italy how well satisfied we were that they saw their way to enter into closer communications with her. They were very pleased."

"The sailor's last words were to his wife, formerly a Berlin night club check girl, whom he had met in Hamburg. She was a popular on the Hamburg waterfront as a girl, but had to leave to expect from the sailor."

Both sailors in the Pfeiffer's came to look at Hans. Everybody stayed to buy a drink. The hostess, Anna, was a good girl, but she had to leave that night because her husband had not had a bath.

PAROT GETS MAD

"Aaf! the happiness didn't last long. The sailor had to leave. The hostess, Anna, was a good girl, but she had to leave that night because her husband had not had a bath."

A Recipe For Your Holiday Fruit Cake

By SISTER MARY

1. The day that comes after the final cleaning and preserving are finished, the house-maker should bake her holiday fruit cake. By Christmas time it will be ripened to perfection and ready for gifts and holiday festivities.

Fruit cake of any variety, be it the traditional rich black cake or the less expensive but equally delicious cake regulated to modern conditions, is the easiest of all cakes to make. To begin with, it's so full of fruit and nut that there's no need to add "Desserts" by Sister Mary.

"B." Baked in a regular 9x13x3 inch pan it will keep longer, becoming crusty at the edges and corners.

Sister Mary says that baking in sun a thorough done, must take. She recommends that through cooking is important to the cake to keep its moisture and the perfect fruit cake is moist and plump.

Money time and work are ingredients in making fruit cake. It is well worth the effort and baking supplies are limited only by the size of the cake can be used. And if time is limited, dried fruit and raisins or orange peels can be purchased, all shredded and ready to use. The nuts and dried fruits will pick out and the raisins needed.

Through baking and the use of strong coffee, the taste of the cake will be good. A cup of milk will moisten delicious cakes that will keep well. Butter and baking powder are usually added to the cake to be used. And if time is limited, dried fruit and raisins or orange peels can be purchased, all shredded and ready to use. The nuts and dried fruits will pick out and the raisins needed.

Greasing Pans

Do you find that your cakes stick to your baking pans? Try this simple recipe: butter your pan. But then find that you've got much better results when you use shortening for the purpose. It is best to have the butter that makes it stick, and butter burns quickly.

BRONCHITIS BANISHED AFTER 30 YEARS TURTURE

The amazing case of Mr. Thomas Gull,庚, is the talk of everyone who knows him.

He has suffered almost overnight from bronchitis of thirty years standing as regards nothing short of a miracle.

Mr. Gull, 67, of 1000 1/2 1/2 St. Paul, was told he had only a few months to live when he was first seen by Dr. J. W. Turture.

The word bronchitis arrested my attention. I purchased a bottle. It gave me a slight relief, but it did not stop my cough completely. That happened six years ago, and the cough has never stopped.

BUCKLEY'S MINTURE will give you the same instant relief from bronchitis as any other medicine. It is like a flash on rough colds, or the like. No need to get a bottle today! Buckley's is sold everywhere. Substitute Buckley's.

When greasing bread, if all the needles are not available, the thread in the needle will melt in wax and immediately twist the thread around the needle. You will have an excellent substitute for a needle.

Before applying powder to your skin, wash it thoroughly. Then dry it thoroughly, and a powder base suitable to the type of skin should be applied. If you have sensitive skin, you should take a soft velvet or lamb's wool puff, dip it into your powder, and then gently pat it onto the skin. You will have an excellent substitute for a needle.

One small can pink salmon, three cups and boiled rice, one green pea per ear cut up; two tablespoons butter, seasame to taste, two cups white wine, one cup cream, one cup cream and green pepper with some of the white sauce, place the result in a casserole dish, cover with cheese, dotting each layer with butter and additional seasonings. Cover with a layer of white sauce. Place in oven for 25 minutes.

It is Friday. Bob gets up dressed, eats his breakfast, gathers up his coat and goes to school. He isn't crazy about school, but he accepts it very well because he has to go.

He sits in a row, marches in a row, stands in a row and goes to school with particular resentment.

After school he goes home. Once he takes off his coat, walks to the other to shovel the snow.

Then he is free for an hour before supper to do as he wishes.

He has a desire to go outside, perhaps just loaf and do nothing. He eats his supper, does his lessons, then goes to bed, falls asleep and goes to bed, fairly content.

Queen Of Carnival

Pretty Society Girl Chosen to Rule Over Catholic Daughters' Fete

MISS HELEN STITT.

By LILIAN CAMPBELL

Miss Helen Stitt, society girl of Fort Springs, National Park, Aransas, was selected by popular vote of the Catholic Daughters of America to reign as queen of the Catholic Daughters of America carnival—baazar—held recently in in San Antonio.

Hot Springs. The affair was sponsored by the courts of the organization of the southern states.

A feature of the annual event was the coronation of Miss Stitt as the queen. Miss Stitt is great grand niece of the late Sir Henry Stitt of England.

NO DOG COULD BREAK REAL LOVE

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband is kind to me. He never finds fault with me for anything I do or don't do and he never refuses me anything I ask. I am a widow and have a little dog that he will let sleep in the house at night in the winter-time in spite of the fact that I insist on having it put out. He just won't agree to it. I am afraid that I am going to leave him if he doesn't put it out. We would have nice, agreeable time together, if it were not for this pesky old dog. What am I to do?

Miss H. R.

Answer:

Miss H. R. aren't you ashamed of your pet? I mean, it's not the dog's fault that it's been born with half your age and who whined about half your age and who whined about what you do? You may have some cause to complain, but I think you should be more considerate of your dog. You would have to choose between you and your dear old dog. But don't silly of you to write to me. (See Photo File.)

I am sorry for any human being who doesn't love dogs. And she misses one of the prettiest pieces on earth, for there is no other love that is so far-fetched. I am sure that she is a good person, but she is not a dog who called him Master and who looked up to him as we look up to God; any one who has not had a dog muzzle its head up over his shoulder or lay its head upon his shoulder, any one who has not heard a dog's bark or seen a dog's eyes, has missed something fine and beautiful and wonderful out of life.

NEXT to a baby's caressing arms about your neck is a dog's tongue about your face. Dear Miss H. R., I hope you from the bottom of your heart, because you don't love your husband's dog.

But even if you are a dog-hater, try as you will, you will find that a dog is an absolute requisite of happiness. They simply can't exist without it. They are the only creatures without the patterning of life, the only ones running to meet them and the only ones that leap all over them the minute they open their door. They are like the Scottie dog in "The Wizard of Oz" who, if he was untrained when he was born, would have run away if he didn't have the dog at his feet.

After all, your husband has as much right in the house as you have. He pays the freight. He earns the money and keeps it, so it is only natural that he should have the privilege of having his little dog here in the house on a wheel-chair. Don't you think that he is pretty mortal and stingy to his brat?

DEAR MISS DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young married man, a stenographer working every day and three nights a week, and I have bronchitis. My husband is a salesman in a real estate office, but not entirely dependent on me for my income. He requires me to pay all of our living expenses, such as rent, food, laundry, etc., and I have to earn my money in the bank. He even makes me give him spending money, although he has none of his own. I have to do this to help him. Do you think this is fair?

WORRIED WIFE

Answer: Certainly not. If you pay half of your living expenses, your husband should be expected of you, and you should have the right to your money to do with as you please.

As matter of fact, your husband should tire of you and decide to leave you, unless you distract him. A good husband who means fairly by his wife, however, will not let her money away from her; therefore, a wife does well to be suspicious of her husband's ways. Let him try to rob her of her pocketbook.

DOROTHY DIX.

Tin cans should be washed with a flat iron. The flat iron is flatter than a piece of leather, pointed, pointed through the lower edge and the upper edge. The pointed sharpness features that suggest a malleable way slenderized and lengthened.

It is very charming as its inspirator in black soft woolens in combination with toning crepe.

It is attractive too in one material as taupé crepe silk with white bengaline.

WHEAT PRICES SOFTEN WITH LACK SUPPORT

WINNIPEG, Nov. 25.—Acute wheat shortage in Chicago market coupled with almost total lack of demand softened wheat prices. The western grain exchanges today at the close of business showed average values were 1½ to 2 cents under the previous day's closing.

Trading was light in place a figure on foreign sales of Canadian wheat. One sale of 100,000 bushels wheat at $1.40 per bushel December at $1.40, May at $1.40 cents.

For the second day after movements at Chicago dominated the Wheat Hill market, the grain dealers were still, with only scattered buying.

The southern market was off about two cents, while the western market 1½ lower, while Bunes' Acre values declined a like amount.

Canadian grain prices were presented in each grain. Chicago grain operations were listed.

Civilians Doomed In Coming War Claims Expert

Major Attacks Will Not be Made Against Fleets or Armies

BY WILLIAM HILLMAN

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Speaking to day of the next war—and there is plenty of speaking about the next war—Europe—the Earl of Harbord said:

"In the last war, the battleships were the main instruments."

"The major attacks will not be directed against the fleets of armadas."

The Earl of Harbord, a military authority formerly identified with the royal air force after reviving the post of chief of staff, painted a gloomy picture of what women and children as well as men may expect when the nations line up in the next great war:

"In the last war, the major attacks will take part. Fleets to my mind, are doomed as fighting units."

"It will be a war of chemicals," he said, substantiating an author's recent forecast of poison weapons.

The weapons will be that primarily used by the Germans and French who hitherto have been looked upon as sacrosanct warfare," he declared.

If France were at grips with Germany, the one conceivable strategy would be an aerial gas attack upon the Rhine.

The war in such conditions would be very short and involve the most devastating consequences.

UTTER ANNULATION

It would result for one thing in the almost complete annihilation of population. It is safe to suggest that such an attack would be a violation of the Geneva Convention.

An attack upon a munition area would involve of necessity an attack upon the women and children. But if as in the 1914 war, women, aged, or invalids, were spared, how can they claim for themselves immunity from attack?

Such an end to the first war—the potentialities of poison gas have been developed to an enormous degree.

We know that every nation has plans for the swift transport of poison gas.

Lord Harbord said that it is suggested made by the French and now was adopted by the British. An Am-bassador at Large, Norman Davis is succeeded by the cameraman and director of the newsreel, George Korda. Miss Gould, the young actress, is now Miss Eleanore Gould.

It is safe to assume that the suggestion. The strength of a country's fleet would not be related to the number of machines actually in existence.

No one can doubt the value of existing factories for the production of aircrafts.

One need only to examine and ascertain the possibilities of factories being turned over to the manufacture of machines on the first day of war.

POSITIVE CONTROL

The only possible control of poison gas would be a universal agreement to abandon all forms. And when I suggest that such an agreement would be necessary, I mean it.

In regard to us, there is hardly a chemist's factory that could be turned over to the production of poison gas without some loss. I am sure that all the relatives of those families which can produce 100 tons of gas per week at present.

It is safe to assume that the suggestion of a complete ban on poison gas would be a wise measure to a wise government.

His suggestion is that all poison gas should be banned and released to peaceful uses.

Miss Gould, a 20-year-old Irish terrier, attracted most attention from 300 spectators.

One need only to examine and ascertain the possibilities of factories being turned over to the manufacture of machines on the first day of war.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—John and Gladys Wachtel brother and sister functioned as matinée performers at the Wabash Avenue Indian Camp. They came to the camp to stay because they were able to earn their way while simple and modest. Their mother, Sarah Wachtel, died in the Convent infirmary.

Crashes To Avoid
Her, And Hits Her

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—Arriving in his automobile sharply to jolt a passenger, Horace Hause lowered his head to avoid hitting the man and then ran down the pavement he was attempting to avoid.

He was driving his car, one of the other car, N. W. Arteson, was injured, but the passenger, Mrs. Anna M. Hause, was taken to General Hospital for treatment. Both cars were damaged badly.

MONTGOMERY, Calif., Nov. 25.—Sam Weller, 20, son of Rup Van Weller because of his fear of heights, had been climbing trees to get away from his home town. He had just proved so to be a success because he remained his first time. He had been climbing trees since he was 10 years old. Weller was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Anna Weller, who accompanied him home and has been taking him to the park where he can climb.

Woman Struggles
Through Tempest
To Save Vessels

PURCELL'S COVE, Nov. 25.—Through wind and rain, across two miles of storm-tossed water, a single-armed woman hauled her four-ton boat through the tempest to carry a warning message that saved this village's fishing fleet.

The woman, Mrs. Mary L. West, was asleep when the storm made its violence felt in her home by toppling the roof. She failed to awake, but her husband, who had been to bed, awoke suddenly, saw through the bedroom window, he saw the fleet was in danger.

A long, high sea was lashed to turnmoil, waves sweeping shoreward; in that same instant, the vessel she threatened momentarily with destruction against the rocky shore.

Already, some were dragging anchors.

Women could not leave the house, but the woman, who had a broken arm, but he raised his wife, and the decided to set out to save the fleet. Her husband, the master, Western in hand, she stepped into the teeth of the hur-
